

Mwanihana Peak

Mwanihana Peak is located in the Udzungwa Mountains of southern Tanzania.

This mountain top is reached by means of a two night hiking trail, starting from the main road 4km north of park headquarters and camping at two different locations along the way.

Once you get over the first ridge of hills, the chances of encounters with large game such as elephant and buffalo rise considerably, which is why all hikers on this trail are accompanied by armed rangers.

Although none of us have actually done the Mwanihana Peak trek ourselves, we are able to arrange it through our friends at Udzungwa Forest Camp.